FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cabezon Group Develops & Delivers Customized Public Information Officer (PIO) Training Workshop for FEMA

Cabezon Group recently developed and conducted a Public Information Officer (PIO) Training Workshop for leadership and key regional representatives of the FEMA Technological Hazards Division's (THD) Radiological Emergency Preparedness (REP) Program. Cabezon Group's nationally recognized trainers, qualified to teach at the FEMA/EMI "Master PIO" level, developed the training, focusing on the uniqueness and criticality of the REP mission as it relates to public information. The PIO workshop included dynamic, interactive group and individual activities as well as the most current audio-visual support materials culminating in a scenario simulation dealing with the challenges of disseminating coordinated and accurate information during an incident. Positive response and feedback from all participants indicated that the workshop's unique mission-specific design was well-received and provided valuable information in support of REP Team training both now and in the future.

"This is yet another example of Cabezon Group's newly enhanced capability to provide comprehensive Emergency Management and Homeland Security solutions to our clients at all levels of Government and Industry" said Mike Duignan, Cabezon Group's Chief Operating Officer.
